

This is the last day to pay taxes without penalty, and the last day to qualify as a legal voter's purchase of a poll tax receipt.

Following the time lag between town and country, this last-minute reminder applies only to urban citizens — for this edition won't reach the rural routes until Monday. But all have had due notice about the Saturday deadline, and a special reminder to city folks is in order because they don't usually keep up with voting requirements as closely as people out in the country do.

So, pay your taxes before night — and get that poll tax receipt which qualifies you to vote.

Your correspondent this morning went through the new Continental Trailways bus which was being shown to hundreds of Hope citizens by the Arkansas Motor Coach line—and I beg to report that it's a spectacular vehicle.

It's virtually a pullman car of the highway, with a restaurant, a sandwich bar, air-conditioning—and a two-level floor plan, with staircase leading up to the elevated part at the rear, which has a view windshield and a view down the highway overlooking the top of the big coach.

It's marvelous, indeed, he designers have packed so much comfort and passenger-capacity into one highway vehicle.

Certainly it's the No. 1 bus on the road today. The cat is right now there's only one of it in the one you saw today. But there'll be more in a hurry.

You have to hand it to our orth Arkansas people — they will at least part of the old Missouri & Arkansas railroad rolling thirty years when the odds were overwhelmingly against any portion of the road ever being returned to service.

The new operating camp is the Arkansas & Ozark railroad, and it will restore service between Harrison, Ark., and Seligman, Mo., by December 15, so it told the Arkansas Public Service Commission yesterday.

Stanley A. Joffe, general manager of the company, pointed out that restoration of the ex-ness northern end of the line — from Harrison into Missouri — depended on the company scrapping the portion south of Harrison to Kett and re-using these materials. His scrapping project was delayed during the summer because business men to the south insisted they would restore their own port to service, too — a plan now abandoned.

So at least the northern tip of the old railroad will be rolling again this coming winter, and it's a fine tribute to the courage and determination of a mountain people. They appreciated the only rail they had, and when it collapsed they restored it.

Lewallen Buy Registered Jersey

Columbus, O. (Special) — Sell Lewallen, of Hope, Ark., purchased one registered Jersey, Arkansas Eesign Margaret, in the herd owned by University of Arkansas Fruit & Truck Experiment Station, of 12, Ark. Lewallen bought one for which to start his pure Jersey herd.

Jerseys are registered at the national office of The American Jersey Cattle Club in Columbus, O. and has been completely recorded on all registered Jerseys in the United States since 1868.

Jerseys are especially noted for producing milk that averages more than 5 per cent. butterfat. E-bred also calves and begins producing milk from three to six months sooner than other breeds. This means faster 10 building and earlier milk check, and makes Jerseys increasingly popular with dairymen.

Life Term to Enjoy Few Free Moments

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 1 —(UP)—Frank Grandstaff leaves today a bit of fresh air with people who knew him before he turned criminal.

Grandstaff will walk from a state prison cell and fly in a private plane to Big Springs, Tex., to hear a cantata he wrote in memory of happier days there.

He was restless in his cell last night, guards reported, and have slept a wink in his excitement. He did not make the first of a round of celebrations, a dinner here in honor of the Texans who came to pick him up.

Sheriff R. E. Wolf of Big Springs will be in nominal custody of the life-terminer, but Grandstaff is a habitual criminal, but Grandstaff promised he would not try to escape.

"Where would I go if I didn't ask?"

He will be happy enough to visit the town of Big Springs as a salesman, when Big Springs men such a good impression on him that he could picture its scenes in the wall of his cell.

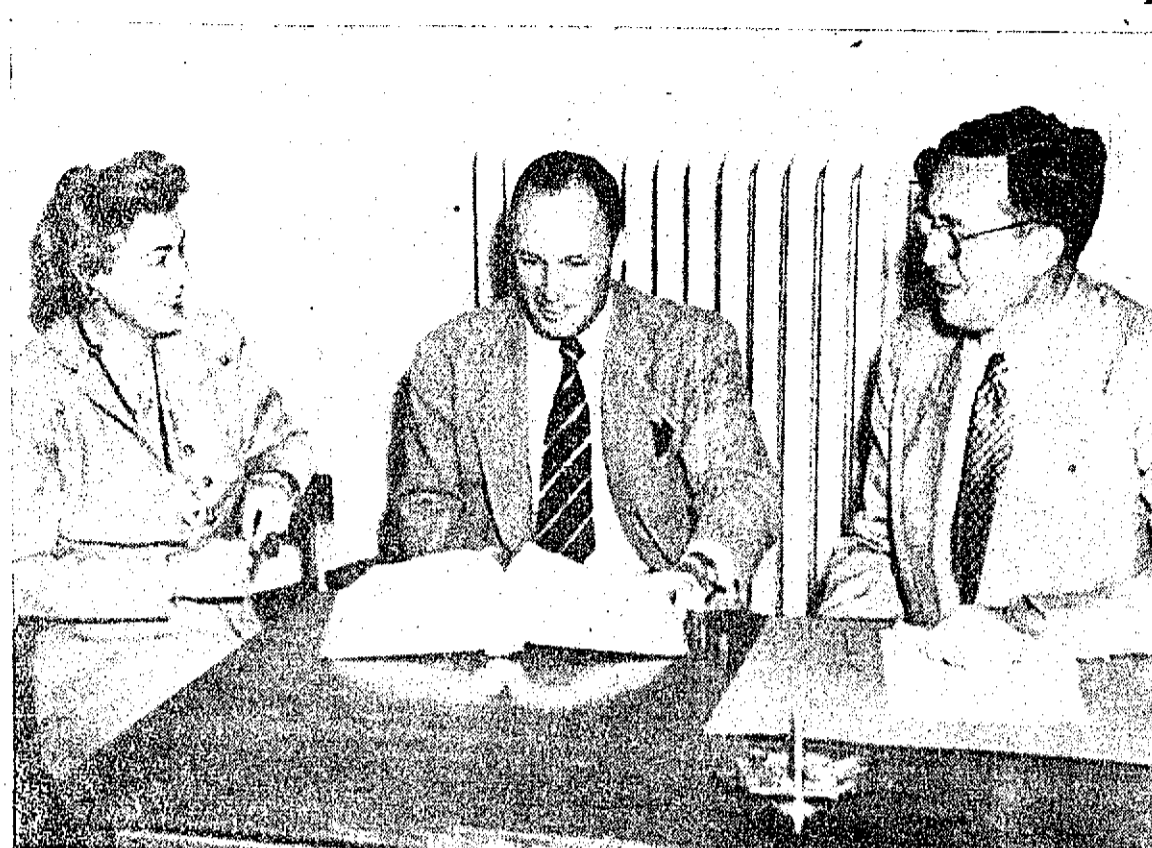

Gov. Gordon Browning gave permission for the "vacation" trip, a Tennessee's part in helping Big Springs celebrate its 100th birthday Sunday. A former governor had refused to do so when the cantata was given its premiere there.

Before he became an Army employee Mr. Ware was superintendent of the fruit and truck experiment station at the University of Arkansas. He resigned that post in July, 1946.

Bobcats Turn Back Stubborn Gurdon 21-0

A surprisingly stubborn Gurdon eleven gave a good account of themselves last night but bowed to a listless Hope team 21-0 before a small crowd.

The Bobcats, showing apparent signs of overconfidence and blocking only occasionally, couldn't score until midway in the second quarter and then they had to do it yard by yard.

In fact the Bobcats just couldn't seem to click and Coach Clyde Trickey reached away down on the bench in an effort to find a working combination. It was practically the same defensively and Bobcats would have been in bad shape if it hadn't been for Bruner, Garrett and Barrentine.

Gurdon presented a powerful eleven that constantly moved the ball but just couldn't muster up the strength to cross the Hope goal line when in striking distance. The big gains for Gurdon were Bailey, Kendrick and Neal who rolled up 101 yards, only one less than Hope.

Too the Bobcats were hampered by penalties, four 15-yarders, that hurt in every instance. Edsel Nix messed up a beautiful 50 yard run by fumbling the ball out of the end zone just before he crossed the goal line.

Hope marched 51 yards in the first touchdown drive with Wesley Huddleston going over from the 6. It came through with the first of three extra points.

The next tally, in the third quarter came as a result of a fumble by the visitors on their own and Wayne Enix circled end to score. Nix kicked and the score was 14-0.

The final score ended after a 49 yard march. Reader Huddleston crashed to the 33 but a penalty brought it back to the 49. Crumpler faded to pass, was rushed and stepped off 9 to the 49. R. Huddleston picked up 11 to 21. Nix made it first on the 23; Huddleston went to the 15 and two plays later circled end to score.

First downs were: Hope 11 and Gurdon 10; Passes, Hope threw 7, completed 2 and had two interceptions. Gurdon completed 5 of 12 and had one interception. Hope drew 5 penalties for 65 yards, Gurdon one for 5; Hope gained 257 net yards to 122 for Gurdon.

By The Associated Press
Little Rock got revenge Friday night for its only loss last year.

The Tigers ran over the Blytheville Chicks for a 47-19 victory on the latter's home grounds in the feature game of the week-end high school football program.

Last year it was different. The Chicks, 1938 Double A champions, upset the Tigers, the Big Six or Triple A titlists.

Fullback G. W. McVay scored six of the Little Rock touchdowns and halfback Larry Winburn tallied the other two. Chick Fullback Robert Reib carried the ball 20 times for an average of eight yards each trip and in the third period scored the first Blytheville touchdown.

The Tiger-Chick scrap somewhat resembled a shadowed what normally would have been the night's big events — two Big Six games.

The Pine Bluff Zebras showed power in taking their first conference game with a 40-7 win over Big Six rival Fort Smith, in a game played at Pine Bluff.

In the other Big Six game, El Dorado blanked Hot Springs, 19-0, on the Trojans' home field. It was the fourth straight win, including one previous loop victory, for the invaders.

The remaining Big Six contenders — North Little Rock — fell against Double A competition, Camden whipped the Wildcats, 19-0, at North Little Rock.

Three New Oil Wells Loom at Stephens

Stephens, Oct. 1 —(P)—Three new oil wells loom for the Stephens area.

Maritzky and Bibby are completing the Clyde Bannister No. 1, section 1-14-20, Nevada county. The well is being splayed but no report has been made on its capacity.

Lee and Burnett's Kate Curran A-3, a twin to the A-2 in section 5-15-19, Ouachita county, has been set in casing at 3,265 feet. It showed 1,200 feet of pure oil in a 30-minute drill stem test.

This is the twin well for the 40-acre tract all producing from different zones.

Kern and Trimble have set casing at 2,251 feet in the Wesson heirs No. 1, section 23-15-19, a mile east of Stephens. Indications are that it will make a good blossom san pumper.

Proposal May Bring End to Rail Strike

St. Louis, Oct. 1 —(UP)—An unexpected compromise proposal held out hope today for an end to the crippling Missouri Pacific railroad strike, now in its 23rd day.

The management suggested late yesterday the dispute be decided by three referees, with their decision binding on the company but not on the four striking brotherhoods. The offer was conditional upon union leaders calling off the strike immediately if they accept the plan.

Roy E. Davidson, a spokesman for the brotherhoods, said it would receive "very serious consideration" and added: "It's not too bad. It has merit."

The unions will give their answer to the railroad tonight or possibly not until Monday, Davidson announced. A meeting of union vice presidents and general chairmen was called for today (10 a. m. CST).

The sudden development in the dispute which had appeared to be hopelessly deadlocked, came at a Pacific building in the Missouri Pacific building, Guy A. Thompson, the railroad's trustee, handed union leaders this letter:

"I propose as follows: That the 292 cases on your strike ballots, which gave rise to the strike, be submitted for hearing and decision by three referees to be chosen in such manner as we shall mutually agree, the decision by said referees on each case to be by majority vote.

"I will be bound by the decisions of said referees. If their decision on any case is not acceptable to you, you need not be bound by it.

"Upon your acceptance of this proposal you immediately will end the strike."

Both sides would be giving up something under the plan.

Thompson has proposed arbitration of the dispute several times. But his offer to let the unions reject any decisions they don't like is new.

If they accept the offer, union leaders will be retreating from their stand that the issues be resolved before the 5,000 engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors return to work.

Hot Springs, Oct. 1 —(P)—A U. S. marshal was en route here today to pick up a former Atlantic City auctioneer charged with fraud and forgery.

The New Jersey businessman is Harold A. Brand, who with his wife, was arrested by FBI agents here yesterday on indictments handed down by federal grand jury at Camden, N. J. The indictments charged Brand on nine counts of fraud and forgery totaling more than $1,000,000.

9 Hempstead 4-H Members to State Fair

Nine 4-H club boys will represent Hempstead county at the State Livestock Show in Little Rock, Monday, reports Extension Service Agents, Oliver L. Adams and Lorraine Blackwood. The boys were selected as a result of placing in the high scoring ten boys in Dairy judging and the high scoring ten boys in General Livestock Judging in competition with boys from the 17 counties of the Third District Livestock Show at the show last week.

The boys will leave Hope Sunday. Reservations have been made for the group at the Hotel Marion.

Day judging in competition with ten 4-H club boys from each of the other three Livestock Show Districts with headquarters at Ft. Smith, Pine Bluff and Blytheville will take place at 9:30 a. m. Monday in the Dairy Arena at the State Show. Hempstead county is to be represented in the dairy judging competition by James Ponder of Columbus, Burrell Joe Smith, James Smith and Wilton Hutton of Patmos, Richard Hunt and Donald Ray Brown of Spring Hill who were second and fourth placed in the Third District Competition, and who were under age 14 on January 1, 1949 and not eligible for State contest will observe the State Show judging.

Billie Burke May 'Flutter' on the Screen But in Real Life She Just Vibrates

By HAL BOYLE
New York —(P)—Mary William Enlow, Appleton, Wis., is an ageless actress.

She starred back in 1907 with the late John Drew, played Ophelia to John Barrymore's Hamlet, spent 18 glittering years as the wife of Florenz Ziegfeld, and has acted in more than 100 motion pictures.

Yet this week this busy lass of 64 years spent four minutes smooching with 37-year-old Mill Berlinger.

M.W.E.A.B. is better known, of course, as Billie Burke, and Berlinger is recognizable to many of the video viewers as Milton Berle, the great theater of the past and today's television camera. Her memories go way back — but no one gets a bigger kick out of living in the present.

I went over the other day to interview her at Sardi's restaurant, and it was like talking to a restless greyhound. She was all over the place.

"I can't find the right kind of play," she said, "I don't want to play a crude, low woman, but it seems like only plays about thwarted, frustrated people are popular. Failure isn't part of my philosophy."

A press agent came over to ask if she'd pose for pictures illustrating an article on geriatrics, the science of old age.

"No," she said definitely, "That's not for me."

Just the age of Milton, she said, and pointed at her hair.

Thomas Resigns as Manager of W & L Plant

Charles O. Thomas, manager of the Hope Water and Light Plant here for the past 10 years, today submitted his resignation to the mayor and city council.

Mr. Thomas said he planned to open an office here and enter private practice engineering. "I like Hope and plan to continue making my home here," he emphasized.

He has been manager of the local municipal plant since June 1, 1939. Prior to that time he was district engineer with the Arkansas Highway Department and was formerly district engineer and acting director of the Works Progress Administration in this section.

His letter of resignation follows: Mayor Lyle Brown, and City Council, Hope, Arkansas. Gentlemen:

You will please consider this my resignation as superintendent of the Hope Water and Light Plant, to become effective not later than October 31, 1949.

In accepting this resignation, I am not unmindful of the many courtesies that have been shown me in the past and take this opportunity to thank you for them.

Very respectfully,
CHAS. O. THOMAS.

Judging Team Prepares for State Show

In General Livestock Judging with competition between four teams representing the four District Shows for the high scoring team of three 4-H club members to represent Arkansas at the American Royal Livestock Show in Kansas City in late October. This contest and award is sponsored by Dave Grundford, Sterling Stores.

The Hempstead county team representing the 17 counties in southwest Arkansas is composed of Travis England of Shover Springs, Hershel Sewell of Eblevins and Henry Sinyard of Patmos.

The Hempstead county hybrid corn exhibit will be exhibited in the crops exhibit of the State Livestock Show. The corn exhibit is made up of ten-acre selections of 43 Hempstead county 4-H club boys in the dairy and general Livestock judging will set up the exhibit in Little Rock with the assistance of County Agent Adams.

March of Dimes Emergency Drive Collects Only $204

Jim LaGrossa, chairman of the Hempstead County polio committee, said today that the recent emergency drive netted only $204.50 in the county.

That sum was donated by patrons of the Saenger and Italo Theatres, he said. The collection was made possible by Earl Young, city manager, and staffs of the Saenger and Italo.

The Stanford Indians have 29 letters returning from the 1948 football squad which won four, lost six.

Few Rainy Spots U. S. Is Generally Fair

Chicago, Oct. 1 —(P)—There was a few rainy spots but generally most of the nation had fair weather today with pleasant autumn temperatures.

The wet belt extended over parts of Kansas northward into Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Western Iowa, Minnesota and Northwestern Wisconsin. There also were a few showers in the northern Rockies and in Florida.

Temperatures dropped below freezing early today in parts of Michigan and were in the high 30's in Kentucky and northwestern Arkansas. The mercury reached above 100 yesterday in parts of Arizona and California and was 90 at Los Angeles.

Red River Research Is Approved

Washington, Oct. 1 —(AP)—The senate public works committee today tackled the $1,114,000,000 waterways bill which sets up navigation and flood control programs throughout the United States.

A vote on the measure was delayed yesterday by discussion of the Columbia river basin programs.

The committee has approved plans for making a research of the Arkansas, Red and White rivers.

All Arkansas projects passed by the house have been approved by committee members. However a $36,950,000 Ouachita river flood control and navigation project and $19,000,000 bank stabilization program of the Arkansas river have been added to the bill. These items will have to have house approval.

Ironically U. S. Has Big Coal Supply

Pittsburgh, Oct. 1 The nation's coal strike is two weeks old today, but ironically, coal stockpiles are higher than at the same strike—less time last year.

The bureau of mines reports a 48-day supply on hand. That compares with the 46-day supply in 1948.

And the coal may last a lot longer than 48 days. Usually a prolonged coal strike shuts down the fuel hungry steel industry.

Now the steel industry is closed by a strike of its own. That drastically reduces the nation's fuel appetite.

One fifth of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers go back to digging coal Monday. But it's still no picnic. For his 400,000 bituminous diggers in northern and southern states.

Lewis yesterday signaled a return to work for 80,000 anthracite (hard coal) miners in eastern Pennsylvania who walked out in sympathy with their fellow UMW members Sept. 19.

Also ordered back to the mines were 22,000 western miners.

"The suspension of mining in the western and anthracite area is not now vital to the pending wage negotiations," Lewis said.

The fiery UMW leader is engaged in marathon contract talks with northern and western bituminous mine operators at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. There is no sign of agreement.

The coal strike has idled 32,000 workers on coal carrying railroads. The first industry layoff was reported by the Heyden Chemical Corporation at Morgantown, W. Va. They said they would cut 25 per cent. of their workforce to conserve coal.

Company officials said about 50 of its 1,000 employees would be laid off by the curtailment.

Meanwhile, the Virginia Emergency Fuel commission made plans to procure a 50,000 ton coal reserve for use in event the present coal walkout continues.

The hard coal miners greeted with the word that they were going back to work. Their pension and welfare fund is separate from the bituminous welfare fund. It was suspension of benefits from the latter fund that brought on the present walkout.

UN May Have Silent Prayer at Sessions

Lake Success, N. Y., Sept. 30 —(AP)—The United Nations assembly is on its way to having silent minutes for prayer or meditation at each session.

The legal committee yesterday approved and sent to the general assembly a recommendation that every assembly meeting open and close with a minute of silence for prayer or meditation by delegates, who represent every faith and creed.

The committee voted 44 to 0 for the recommendation after Secretary-General Trygve Lie's legal expert told the members the delegates could pray, meditate or just let their minds wander during the silent minutes.

Seven nations did not vote on the proposal. They were Yugoslavia, Russia, White Russia, the Soviet Union, Ukraine, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Uruguay.

Four of the big Elater fires of Mexico can throw enough light to

500,000 Steel Workers Out on Strike

Pittsburgh, Oct. 1 —(P)—A half million CIO steel-workers struck today for free pensions and free insurance, shutting down America's steel and iron mills from coast to coast.

The first steel walkout since 1946 dealt a crippling blow to U. S. industry. And coupled with the two-week-old coal strike it threatens to disrupt the nation's economy.

Right now America's strike idle is past the million mark. This includes 400,000 soft coal miners.

United Steel worker-President Philip Murray gave the strike signal.

And at one minute past midnight the walkout became effective — orderly and without incident. It shut down 53 basic steel plants and 30 iron and steel companies. Workers are in 23 states.

Actually, however, the shutdown had begun hours earlier as steel mills banked furnaces to protect equipment. There were a few scattered wildcat strikes before the scheduled end of a truce asked by President Truman and accepted by Murray.

Mr. Truman had three times intervened — delaying the strike a total of 76 days. But last night he refused to butt in again.

The strike order came suddenly — but not unexpectedly.

It followed two days of fruitless negotiations with federal mediators, and months of wrangling — bitter and sarcastic name-calling — with management.

The U. S. mediator William M. Margolis had jumped into the picture full of hope.

Cards-on-the-table conferences first turned his optimism into pessimism. Then his pessimism into gloom.

Soon he sought a miracle, which never came.

Murray remained cagey throughout. And right at the end Big Steel rejected the union's sudden renewed original demands. These included a request for a wage increase of 12-12 cents an hour.

President Benjamin F. Fairless of the giant United States Steel corporation turned Murray down. His firm had made an offer previously agreed to union terms.

And so the strike came.

There has been no reported violence. Pickets ringed plants — some men dressed in their Sunday best, treating the walkout as a holiday.

But they permitted men to cross lines into the darkened mills to keep equipment in tip-top shape. It means that when a settlement eventually reached there'll be no delay in the return-to-work movement.

Only two companies, are opening a total of 19,000 men, are open today. Both agreed to union terms: company-paid pensions and insurance.

American Can was ordered struck by Murray, but it beat the walkout deadline by a half hour. It operates 23 plants and employs 15,000.

Still operating, too, is Portsmouth (Ohio) steel with 4,000 workers. Copperweld Steel, Inc., reported by came to terms but a union spokesman said Murray ordered it struck.

Murray blames U. S. Steel, largest steel maker with 150,000 employees, for forcing the strike.

Reopening of School Cuts Unemployment

Washington, Oct. 1 —(P)—The reopening of schools and a spurt in production were cited today with cutting down unemployment in September for the second month in a row.

While much of the 333,000 decline estimated by the census bureau was due to youngsters who gave up the job hunt to resume school work, the bureau found "some evidence" that adult unemployment shrank too.

On the other hand, "the return to school of millions of summer workers" also caused a 336,000 drop in employment from the 1949 peak reached in August.

Totals for September were placed at 39,411,000 civilian employed, 3,531,000 unemployed. With 1,490,000 armed forces personnel added to civilian workers, the number of jobs was 60,970,000.

"Gratifying," Secretary of Commerce Sawyer commented, adding that the census bureau report "further bolsters accumulating evidence that general business conditions are improving."

Along that line, the agriculture department reported that farm prices went up an average of almost two per cent from mid-August to mid-September — the first upturn since March.

Despite the rise — which was led by meats, truck crops, poultry, eggs and dairy products — the level of farm prices still is 14 per cent below a year ago.

But some declines in the wholesale prices of agricultural products were reported by the bureau of labor statistics for the week ending Sept. 27. Wholesale prices as a whole, the bureau said, dropped 1.1 per cent in that week, bringing them 9.2 per cent below the corresponding week of last year.

Russia Accused of Trying to Overthrow Tito

London, Oct. 1 —(P)—Yugoslavia accused Russia today of trying to overthrow the government of Premier Marshal Tito.

The charge was made in a Yugoslav reply to the Soviet note Thursday which scrapped the Russian-Yugoslav treaty of friendship and mutual assistance. Hungary and Poland followed Russia's lead yesterday and other Soviet satellites in the communist area are expected to do the same soon.

Tito's new note in the raging battle of words between Russia and Yugoslavia was reported here today by Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency.

"It was well known that Soviet representatives tried to organize the Chinese within the Yugoslav government and Yugoslav army with view to overthrowing the legal Yugoslav government," the note said.

Three other Cominform (Communist International Informant Bureau) members appeared certain to follow Russia's lead in telling Tito they had no members. They are Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and Romania.

Albania — Also a fellow traveler — repudiated several agreements, chiefly economic, with her Tito-led Balkan neighbor a year ago soon after the Cominform denounced the Yugoslav regime.

In the first official comment on Russia's denunciation of her treaty, a broadcast by the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug said the Kremlin's action is "one more proof as to who considers treaties between nations to be mere scraps of paper."

In the treaty-junking yesterday, Poland and Hungary followed Russia right down the line.

The Soviets tore up their treaty, they said, because the treason trial of Marshal Josip Broz Tito, Minister of Defense, showed that Tito, who they said was a traitor, was plotting with the Yugoslavs and Americans to put his country in Tito's camp. Poland and Hungary parroted that as their reason for throwing out their pacts yesterday.

Poland might also told seven members of Yugoslavia's embassy in Warsaw to get out of the country. Hungary already has ordered 10 members of Tito's legation in Budapest to leave the country. Yugoslavia retaliated with expulsion orders for 10 members of the Hungarian diplomatic staff in Belgrade.

Russia to Help Oust Chinese Nationalists

Lake Success, N. Y., Oct. 1 —(UP)—Russia soon will launch a drive to oust Chinese Nationalists from the United Nations and seat the Chinese communist delegation, a highly-placed Soviet bloc spokesman said today.

"This undoubtedly will be the last assembly in which the Kuomintang (nationalist) government will participate," the spokesman said. The Soviet government was expected to set the stage for its demands by immediate renunciation of the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship of 1945 and recognition of the communist Chinese peoples republic.

Russia also pushed a diplomatic offensive on two other fronts, seeking victories over the West on the issues of Korea and the former Italian colonies.

The Soviet union scored a triumph yesterday when the general assembly's political committee relegated Chinese nationalist charges against the Kremlin to a lowly fifth place on its agenda.

In this position the nationalist charges probably will not be considered for several weeks and may not reach the full general assembly until mid-November.

In delegating the issue to fifth place the 59-member committee overrode arguments by the United States and Britain in support of China.

"China had argued that her charge that Russia is threatening the peace of the Far East through aid to Chinese communists should be considered immediately after the currently-debated problem of the disposition of the former Italian colonies."

Russia renewed its demands that the Western powers abandon their North African bases as the political committee took up the question of disposing of Benito Mussolini's former empire. Soviet delegate George Zarubin tabled a proposal calling for independence for the vast North African expanse of Libya and for liquidation of all military bases and the removal of all foreign troops within three months.

Younger Husband, Older Wife

Should a woman marry a man younger than herself?
No question is asked me oftener than this by women. They are so caught in marriage by men with whom they are in love; men who are congenial to them and with whom they have all sorts of interests in common; men who are fitted in every way to make good husbands, but the women hesitate to marry them because they have celebrated a few more birthdays than the men have. The men care nothing for the disparity in age, but the women are held back by their superstitious reverence for the ancient taboo against the wife being the elder of a married couple.

The wisdom of a woman marrying a man younger than herself depends upon two things only. It seems to me the first is: How much younger is the man than she? And secondly: How old is the man?

Youth and age can never make because they have not one single impulse or desire or taste or habit in common and this is equally true whether the woman or the man is the elder. Fortunately, however, of the millionaires seldom commit the folly of marrying lads young enough to be their great-grandsons. They lack the vanity that makes a tottering old man of 90 believe that he is as good as a young man.

But when a woman is considering marrying a man ten or fifteen years younger than herself the vital point that should determine her decision is his age. If he is 30 and she 30 it is not to be thought of, if he is 30 and she is 40 it is a good matrimonial risk.

THE REASON

The reason for this is plain. At 20 a man still has the mother complex that makes every boy fall in love with his school teacher or any older woman who will take the trouble to explain him and jolly him along. He still wants to hold on to the hand, to speak, of some sophisticated woman who will guide him through the strange paths of life. If a very young man marries a woman older than himself she is always more mother than wife to him and he is very certain to turn from her when he grows up to some girl of his own age.

If the man is 30, however, and a boy's instincts are not so strong, he is formed. His tastes are settled. And if he wants to marry a woman ten years older than he it is because she comes up to his ideals and satisfies his judgment.

The theory that a woman should not marry a man younger than herself is based upon two assumptions, neither of which is true now. The first was that inasmuch as a woman has to live for a living the older man made the preferred meal ticket, was an incontrovertible argument in a time when marriage was not only a woman's sole avocation but vocation, but that a young man does not have to marry; a living. She can make one for herself. Hence when she takes a husband she does not have to consider whether he is old enough to have worked up to a good position, or whether he is ten years older than she is, she either has money of her own that she inherited or else she is apt to be safely ensconced in a good job she has made for herself.

OTHER OBJECTION

The her objection to women marrying men younger than themselves is the fact that women aged are quickly than men, but that is not the case now when beauty culture has become a religion with the fair sex and women devote more thought and care to preserving their complexion of their figures than they do to vying their immortals souls, where men let Nature take its course with them and get fat and bald and careless about their complexion. It is not in any crowd and it will see that women look far younger for their age than men do.

So would say to the woman who is contemplating marrying a man younger than herself: Beware of city-snatching. Boy babies don't grow up into satisfactory husbands if the man is as much as 30 years old, go to it. You will have better chance of happiness than 30 wives, because your age will give you more sense about how to get along with your husband.

Bob Hope Is Featured at Saenger

For some time now, people the world around have been loving Bob Hope for himself, but word has it that after Paramount releases his newest picture, they're going to love him for "Sorrowful Jones," too! Bob as Damon Runyon's most lovable character arrives Sunday at the Saenger Theatre with his co-star Lucille Ball and able assistance from William Demarest, Bruce Cabot, Thomas Gomez and little Mary Jane Saunders.

From all accounts Hope has never been funnier than as Sorrowful Jones, nor has he ever had a role with the inherent humor of that small-time Broadway bookie, a hard man with a buck until one day. What happened to Sorrowful is a story only Damon Runyon could have written, with his deep insight into the hard-shelled heart of Broadway characters, his rare understanding of their susceptibility to sentiment. As the reluctant protector of a little girl, Bob has a real acting assignment. The role combines humor with pathos in a way to add still more luster to Hope's career.

Lucille Ball portrays Gladys O'Neil, a beautiful doll who sings in Big Steve's night club (Steve is played by Bruce Cabot) and who would be more than mildly interested in Sorrowful Jones. If he weren't such a lightweight, but when the little girl's father is bumped off by Big Steve for knowing too much about the latter's "fix" of a horse-race, Gladys lends the little one affects the lives of all the wise guys and gals of the Big Street with whom she is thrown, adds up to what is considered not only Bob Hope's best picture, but one of the most heart-warming films ever made.

Little Mary Jane Saunders was chosen from among more than 5,000 aspirants for the role of "Shorts," the child who takes over Sorrowful Jones' heart and his bankroll too. And since Sorrowful's heart and bankroll are one and indivisible, the feat requires twice the appeal needed to break down an average citizen, which should give some indication of her charm.

Film has an interesting, unusual foreword by Walter Winchell.

The 1935 height record of 72,295 feet set by Capt. Albert Stevens and Orville Anderson in a balloon was still higher than any other of Broadway characters, his rare

Union Reply to Railway Expected

St. Louis, Oct. 3 —(AP)—A union reply to the latest company proposal for ending the Missouri Pacific railroad walkout is expected late today.

Roy E. Davidson, spokesman for the four striking brotherhoods, said union leaders plan to meet this morning. No time has been set for a reply to company officials but it will probably take place some time after noon (CST), he said.

The latest proposal from Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the railroad, came Friday in it he suggested the two parties agree on a three-man board of arbitration. Any decision by the board would be binding on the company but not on the unions.

Another part of the proposal called for an end to the walkout, now in the fourth week, upon acceptance of the plan by the brotherhoods.

Union officials met Saturday and yesterday to discuss the proposal. Observers believe the unions will come up with a counter-proposal. The unions previously have said they would not end the strike until a major portion of the 282 claims against the railroad were settled.

DOROTHY DIX Father's Duty

Dear Miss Dix: My son married a girl a distance from home, where he met in quite the correct way, and who seemed to be of exceptionally good taste and unusually good character. Since then I have had authentic information that his woman's past life favors her right to marry an honorable man. My son is ignorant of this. So is my wife, and I think it would kill her to know it. Shall I tell my son go on in ignorance and build a home without him or his wife knowing that I know about her past, or shall I tell my son? Where is my duty?

DISTRACTED FATHER

Answer: If you had known before your son's marriage about the woman's past life, it would certainly have been your duty to tell him but now that the marriage is an accomplished fact, it is not so clear what line of conduct it is best for you to take.

If you reveal your knowledge to your son, you will wreck his home. It will be a terrible shock to find out that the woman he trusted has lied to him and deceived him. It would take a man of exceptionally strong character not to have his whole life warped by such an experience.

Her Character
It seems to me that the only thing that you can have to guide you in this case is the woman's character. If you feel sure that she means to go straight in the future, you may well keep silence and give her her chance. If you believe that she has repented of her sins, you may forgive them and try to blot them out of your memory.

But if you feel that she is an adventuress who has married your son for a home and position in society, or if she is a weakling without principle of honor, who has not the strength in her to resist temptation to run straight, then you will do well to warn your son before there are any children, because such a woman is not fit to be a mother.

Dear Dorothy Dix: What is the best method to pursue in order to make my spoiled, selfish, self-

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

The Story: After a broken engagement, Tod Duncan marries an old friend Jenny and both try to convince themselves that this is not "marriage on the rebound." At first, Jenny is made miserable by Tod's family, which is disappointed because they didn't marry the wealthy Liz Conover. Then they go to live in a trailer, camp while Tod finishes college, but conditions do not lend themselves to happiness.

Finally Jenny discovers she is going to have a baby. Tod is shocked by the news, broken to him by Nina Cushman, an old friend of Jenny's. He goes for a walk and meet's an old chum from State University, Rick Morris.

Tod returned very late that night, much later than he had planned. Nina had long since left, and Jenny had gone to bed.

He slipped in, looking she would be asleep. But she wasn't. He went to the bed to kiss her. His hand felt the wetness of the pillow, where she had been crying.

He sat on the edge of the bed then and rubbed his hand up and down her bare arm. "Gosh, Jenny, I'm sorry I didn't get back sooner. I wasn't on account of what you told me tonight — about the baby, I mean."

"Wasn't it?" Her voice sounded choked and tight.

"Honest it wasn't. I'll admit I was bowled over, but, well, not like you think. I stopped in for a beer and met Ricky Morris, and

They could have sold the car. But Tod was proud of it. Then they didn't really have to have it. Jenny happened to think of the cottage on the river. Much as it wrenched her heart to sell Pop's shack, still it would bring in some money. They wouldn't be going out there much next summer with the baby, anyway.

Tod went at once to a real estate agent. The cottage brought $300 after the agent's fee was deducted, which Tod thought was a fabulous sum. Any money the money wouldn't go far, but she refused to let herself worry.

Tod brought Ricky Morris home for supper one evening that week. Ricky was tall and rather slender; dark eyes with a humorous glint; a pleasant mouth and straight dark hair that he had to keep brushing back from his forehead. Jenny liked him instantly.

Ricky was good for Tod, and Jenny decided she must encourage him to come see them often. Tod needed friends. He had cultivated none of the other fellows in the trailer camp. He had said that the student body of Markwood College was made up mostly of geons. Naturally he missed the excitement of the State University's big football games, and being a campus big shot. He missed the life at the fraternity house too, the parties, and the people like Liz Conover and Ricky Morris.

Tod had been apologetic to Ricky about their living in a trailer. He had apologized until she had wondered if he weren't apologizing or her too.

One afternoon later that week, as she was on her way to the grocery to shop, she saw Rick again.

It was one of those wonderful October days, all golden and mauve, a hint of woodsmoke in the air, the leaves floating dreamily down in the sunlight, one by one. Jenny was walking briskly and she was turned corner by a building, she ran squarely into someone.

She had a confused impression of a green corduroy coat, and the smell of tobacco and then she looked into Ricky Morris's dark eyes. The eyes crinkled pleasantly as he said, "Hello! Going somewhere in a hurry?"

"Only going shopping for groceries and not in this much of a hurry," she said. "It was a wonderful day, she felt splendid, and it was somehow vaguely exciting to run into Ricky this way."

She wasn't dressed up, an old red beret, and a short red coat over her pencil slim black skirt, but the fresh air had put a tingle in her cheeks and brightened her eyes.

"Let me go along," Rick said. He took her arm. "I'll help you, I'm a regular bargain hunter. And you ought to taste my cooking. Jenny. Honestly, if you had known about me and all my various talents, you'd never have married Tod."

Yes, she was sure Rick would be good for Tod. She must encourage him to come see them often. He was good for her, too, smehw. (T Be Continued)

Nashville Wins Game in Dixie Playoff

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 3 —(AP)— Right hander Ben Wade will shoulder the responsibility of trying to get the Nashville Vols even with the Tulsa Oilers in the Dixie series tonight.

The Vols, pennant and playoff winners in the Southern association, got back in the ball game yesterday with a 9-1 victory behind the three-hit pitching of Frank Marino.

The triumph brought new hope to the Vols after they were whacked soundly in the first two games at Sulphur Dell.

On the line to oppose Wade in tonight's fourth game is slim Jim Avera, a righthander with a tantalizing shiner ball. He beat the Vols in the series opener in Nashville.
